

Some sites choose to service several operators from a single pair of oxygen and fuel gas cylinders. In these circumstances, 3-way adaptors are often used to provide 2 or 3 regulator connections. Third output can be blanked off with the threaded plug.

